

WEAK GUN LAWS OR UNFETTERED ACCESS?

Firearms Caught at TSA Checkpoints 2018

Airports in the states with the weakest gun laws caught more guns at TSA checkpoints which raises questions if heavily trafficked public places like airports are even safe anymore. With over 4,239 total firearms caught in 2018, does it really reflect what we're seeing around the country? Is this the result of weak gun laws or are guns just more accessible now?
